REPUBLICAN PRIMARIES.

The State Electoral and Congressional Conventions.

HEADQUARTERS ESSEX COUNTY REPUBLICAN COMMITTEE, No. 870 BROAD ST., NEWARK, N. J.—In pursuance of the call of the Republican State Committee, the Republican voters of Essex county of the State of New Jersey will meet in the several wards and townships, on Monday, September 24th, 1888, at 8 o'clock P. M. for the purpose of choosing delegates to a State Convention, to be held in Taylor's Opera House in the city of Trenton on THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 27TH at 12 o'clock noon, to select nine(9) electors to be voted for at the next General election.

Also for the purpose of choosing delegates to a Congressional District Convention, to be held on TUESDAY AFTERNOON, SEPTEMBER 25TH, at 2 o'clock, in the Roseville Rink, in the city of Newark, to select a candidate for Congress to be supported at the next general election.

The basis of representation under the call of the State Committee will be one delegate for each 200 Republican votes cast at last President election, and one delegate for each fraction thereof exceeding 100 votes, provided each ward and township shall be represented by at least one delegate.

The basis of representation to the Congressional District Convention under this call will be one delegate for each one hundred Republican votes cast for the State Senator for 1887, and one delegate for each fraction thereof exceeding fifty votes.

The number of delegates to which each ward and township is entitled to under these calls and the places holding meetings are as follows:

Julia Comstock Stout.

Miss Julia Stout, the only daughter of Mr. G. Lee Stout, died Wednesday morning. She had been slightly ill while away with the family at Watch Hill. She had there been treated for tonsilitis, and soon so far recovered as to be able to return home. She continued to improve apparently and went about as usual, when on Wednesday of last week the peeling of the skin, so characteristic of scarlet fever, warned the family of the real nature of her illness. She had taken cold, and serious symptoms rapidly manifested themselves. The heart failure and local throat trouble were successfully controlled, and no special alarm was felt till Tuesday, when the violent pain in the head, followed by other distressing indications of acute Bright's disease, caused the gravest fears for the result. All efforts to check the progress of this most dreaded follower of scarlet fever proved unavailing.

The sudden and untimely death of Miss Stout has caused many a sorrowful heart among us. Those who knew her grieve over the loss of her bright presence; and besides these are the many who are sad indeed because there is bitter affliction in the house of their friends.

Artful Dodgers.

For more than half a century, the Democratic party has been uniformly a free trade party, as shown by the official action of the members of Congress and Presidents. (See speeches, votes and messages of Democratic Presidents and members of Congress since 1833.) Democratic leaders on the contrary, have not hesitated, on the eve of election, to deceive the people regarding this great subject(The Democratic campaign motto of 1884, "Polk, Dallas and the tariff of '42.") But they have never allowed the false pretence before election to influence the party action after. (The repeal of the tariff of '45. Vice President Dallas casting the deciding vote, sending protectionist Randall to stump protectionist States before election and passing the free trade Mills Bill in spite of his piteous appeals after election.) Shall we never learn by experience, that the individual sayings of Democratic papers and speakers, avail nothing against the mighty tendency of the Democratic party towards free trade?

But the Democratic platforms have almost invariably displayed the same free trade tendency as Democratic official action (see Democratic platforms.)

But many Democrats insist, notwithstanding the crushing nature of the proof adduced, that their party is not a free trade party, that they are in favor of taxing imports, as well as the Republicans. This is a mere quibble; they are opposed to the principle of protection, and for lack of a better term, opponents of protection, call themselves and are called by others, in common speech, "free traders." No man in his senses and no civilized nation is in favor of the abolishing of custom houses. But the Democratic party holds the opinion, has heretofore invariably acted upon it, and is now acting upon it, that the protective tariff is "vicious, inequitable and illogical" (President Cleveland's message); that all custom house taxation shall be only for revenue (Democratic platforms of 1876); that the tariff shall be for revenue only (Democratic platforms of 1880); that Federal taxation shall be exclusively for public purposes (Democratic platforms 1884). In whatever else the Democrats differs they are agreed with hostility to the principle of a tariff for the purpose of protecting home industry. The Republicans are unequivocally, plainly, openly and uncompromisingly in favor of a tariff for the protection and encouragement of American industry, and the preservation of the American market for the American people.

We shall not squabble about words. Call it what you will the Democratic official policy favors making competition between the United States and foreign countries, if not free as free as possible. The Republican party is in favor of a tariff which shall protect as far as possible the American producer from foreign competition. This is the issue.

It is so plain that the wayfaring man, though a fool, cannot help seeing it if he merely chooses to look. The position many Democrats try to take is this. We are not in favor of free trade, but even if we are, protection is an iniquitous and scandalous thing, a tax on the consumer, the foe of the workingman, the creature of the capitalists, and deserves our severest condemnation. To maintain a complicated position like this requires agility of no mean order; but half a century of double dealing on this vital question of the tariff has made the Democratic party a master of the science of political gymnastics.

The Republican party, the party of protection, has always a double battle to fight, the first necessary to drive the Democratic party into its true position, and then secondly, to defeat it in that position.

In this campaign, with the President's free trade message in print, the free trade Mills bill, the free trade of the Democratic members of Congress, the Democratic free taade platform indorsing the President's message and the Mills Bill, the defeat and disgrace of the protectionist Randall by free traders in congress, the free trade editorilas of the New York Times, the New York World, the Evening Post, Harpers Weekly, and the democratic Press generally, and the free trade stump speeches of Mills, McMillen, Waterson, and the other Democratic leaders, the winning of the first battle should be more than usually easy.

The Democratic party stands forth clear and distinct as the enemy of protection. What it would do after the destruction of the protective system, whether it would favor absolute free trade or its equally pernicious sister, tariff for revenue only, is a matter of supreme indifference.

After the murder the disposal of the corpse is of secondary interest to the defunct

Shall it be then Harriaon and protection to American Industry or Cleveland and British free trade?

Township Committee.

In the absence of Chairman Thomas Oakes, Mr. George W. Cook presided over the meeting of the Town Committee on Wednesday night. Mr. C A. Lighthipe of Orange, was present, and brought with him maps furnishing the desired information in regard to Carteret avenue, the new street recently opened through his property. The Committee was satisfied with the explanation made by Mr. Lighthipe and accepted the street as a public highway. It was also decided to request the Board of Freeholders to build a bridge over Second River where the new street crosses.

Engineer Reimer was instructed to make a grade map of Ridgewood avenue, for the purpose of enabling the Committee to ascertain the best way of disposing of the surplus water that accumulates on that avenue between Baldwin street and the N. Y. & G. L. R. R. bridge.

A communication was received from Mr. George Dodd, the owner of the property on Franklin Road on which the noted "Silver Spring" is situated. Mr. Dodd suggested that the facilities for obtaining abundance of water at this place might prove of value to the town at some future period. No action was taken with regard to the communication.

A communication from the officials of the Orange & Bloomfield Street Railway was read, presenting to the public of Bloomfield as an acknowledgement of the encouragement and assistance given by them toward the carrying through of the new railway, the fountain recently erected at the Centre. The gift was acknowledged by the drawing up of suitable resolutions which were forwarded to the officials of the Company. A communication from the same source informed the Committee that the Orange & Bloomfield Street Railway was now completed in accordance with the provisions of the ordinance, and the Company desired the Committee's inspection of the road for approval and acceptance.

The bill of the Montclair Gas & Water Company amounting to $2,496.50 was ordered paid.

J. E. Freeman was awarded the contract for the construction of a cinder sidewalk on Glenwood avenue and Prospect street, from the Glenwood avenue depot of the D. L. & W. R. R. to the East Orange line.

Petitions for flagstone sidewalks were received from Wm. A. Baldwin, Broad street; Francis O Brien, Willow street; Mrs. M. Howarth, Orange street; John Van Gieson, Dodd street. Referred to the Sidewalk Committee.

A very large number of poor bills were presented for payment.

Contractor McDowell's bills for gravel and broken stone were ordered paid.

Westminster Woman's Missionary Society.

The regular quarterly meeting of this society was held in the church parlor, on Monday afternoon. In the absence of the President, Mrs. George A. Paul, the chair was taken by the Vice-President, Mrs. Chas. M. Davis.

In addition to the usual business, a paper by Miss Lillie Day was read on the present condition of Japan, and another on the Indians of America, by Mas. Davis.

An interesting incident of the meeting was the bidding farewell to Miss Imogene Stimers a member of the church, who has been appointed by the Presbyterian Board of Missions, teacher in the Missionary School in the city of Guatemala, Central America.

Mrs. Dr. White, in a few happy remarks presented to Miss Stimers, on behalf of the ladies, a handsomely bound Spanish Dictionary, and a lap tablet, both of which would constantly remind her in her new home, of the friends who had known and loved her in Bloomfield; Miss Stimers, much affected by this unexpected incident, replied in grateful terms, and explained the character of the work upon which she was about to enter.

At the close of the meeting, Rev. George A. Paull, the pastor of the church, Mr. George Cook, a member of the session, and Mr. Charles M. Davis, County Supt. under whom Miss Stimers had taught in the public schools of the county for the last twelve years, entered the room in order to join in the farewell exercises. Being invited by the President, they briefly addressed the society and Miss Stimers in appropriate remarks. The society closed its session by singidg the hymn:

"Blest be the tie that binds,
Our hearts in Christian love"

Miss Stimers left New York Wednesday on the Steamer Colon, for Aspinwall, en route for Guatemala.

—The Republican Convention for the nomination of Congressman for the Sixth District will be held in the Roseville Rink next Tuesday. Henry Lelbbach and Fred S. Fish are the city candidates, and Elias W. Condit of West Orange, and Henry A. Potter of East Orange the Township candidates.

AN UNEXPECTED ALLY.

Another Free Trade Democrat—Jay Gould on Wool.

Cleveland and the free traders seem to have found an unexpected ally in the person of Jay Gould, the eminent New York financeer. Mr. Gould announces as his opinion that free wool will benefit rather than injure our manufacturers engaged in that branch of industry. Now if the eminent financier had stopped there his mere assertion might have carried some weight with it, but not content to let well enough alone he undertakes to give reasons.

He says: "It will give them free of duty raw material from England and Australia, where the quality is very fine, to mix with the common grades grown here. If the wool imported was of equal grade with ours, the effect might be different, but it is much superior."

Mr. Gould's reasoning is just about as sensible as that of the philosopher who cut two holes in his gate for his two cats, a big hole for the big cat and a little hole for the kitten. It is true that the wool now imported is of a fine grade, but if we admit wool duty free, is it not obvious that wool of low grade will rush in upon us, to the destruction of our own wool industry? Not even Mr. Gould could open a flood gate to a rushing river and expect only pure, clear water to come in. It is the low grade wool we want to keep out until we can improve our own clip and raise our own high grade wools.

But Mr. Gould does not know his subject. We raise a great deal of high grade wool, and the domestic product is certainly increasing, being stimulated by a protective tar iff. There are, too, some low grade wools imported, of a special kind, but not in great quantities.

The manufacturers of wool do not agree with Mr. Gould. New England is almost a unit against free wool, and the manufacturers may be supposed to know as much about their own needs as Mr. Gould can, whose labors have been popularly supposed to be confined rather to destroying than to making; that is, except to making a colossal fortune out of the misfortunes of others. San Francisco Chronicle.

MR. MILLS' BILL.

A Few Industries the Democrats Propose to Kill.

The Mills bill declares for—

Free trade in lumber, which we produce to the value of $300,000,000 annually.

Free trade in wool, of which we produce nearly 300,000,000 pounds annually.

Free trade in salt, of which we produce nearly 40,000,000 bushels annually.

Free trade in flax, hemp, jute and other fibers.

Free trade in cement, potash, lime and brick.

Free trade in meats, game and poultry.

Free trade in vegetables, peas and beans.

Free trade in marble and stone.

Free trade in tin plates, which would destroy the sheet iron industries.

Free trade in at least 100 other articles produced in this country, most of which would be produced in sufficient quantities for home consumption if properly protected.

Mr. Cleveland's Native Town.

The following is an extract from a private letter written from Clinton, N. Y.:

"We are deep in political work here. This mill, which had only one vote for Blaine, does not give Cleveland a single vote this coming election. There are hundreds of Irish voters in this town who are Republicans and they are all working for Harrison. * * * A large manufacturer in Hudson was always a red hot Democrat; he is now president of a Republican club at Hudson. He wrote me, 'We had to leave the Democratic party and come over to protection and mean to do all we can to elect Harrison and Morton.' This action on his part turns about 30 votes in his mill, and his influence is good in the city. The Democrats of this town have fallen off so fast that they could not get enough to attend their meeting to call the roll, so they were obliged to go home, as their speaker would not address so small a crowd. Mr. Smyth, the delegate to the St. Louis convention, was so disgusted with the platform that he will not take any part in the work, and a great many agree that he will vote for Harrison, but it will not be known positively. The claim was made that Oneida county gave Cleveland the chair last election, but if it exists with this county this fall Cleveland might as well pack his grip and prepare for that country where the stream is said to be impregnated with that common article, chloride of sodium—salt—when by copious draughts of water he may lose some of his verdant freshness and still live. At any rate the people—not even excepting the Mugwumps—of Oneida county do not propose to have any free wool pulled over their eyes. Our last meeting was addressed by a Mugwump, a professor of Hamilton college, on the hill in this town. He said 'he was trying to devise some way to atone for voting for Cleveland. He did so because he believed the man meant what he said in his letter of acceptance,' and he went to school with him. This is Cleveland's native town."

$21.000 FOR CHARITIES.

The charitably-inclined readers of this paper will be much interested in the following

"ANNOUNCEMENT.

"We have decided to distribute among the charitable institutions within a circuit of twenty-five miles from New York City Hall the sum of Twenty-One Thousand Dollars, pro rata, as per the number of our "German Laundry Soap" Wrappers held by each institution on the First day of November, 1888. Committee to distribute this donation to be selected by institutions holding ten thousand or more Wrappers."

This takes in Bloomfield, it being within 25 miles of New York.

CAUTION.

Many charitably-disposed persons were DECEIVED last year by IMITATIONS of our German Laundry Soap, and therefore such wrappers were not counted. Ask for
